PERSONAL STATEMENT

I'm a Front–End developer who enjoys developing apps with React, Redux,Node JS Technologies, solves issues, shares experience and motivates the team to use the latest technologies stack to provide the highest code quality and develop the most stable system. I enjoy being challenged and engaged with projects that require me to work outside of my comfort zone and knowledge set. I have experience in creating products from scratch, supporting and creating new features.

My main goal is to provide a high–quality product that will have a stable state and satisfy customer needs.
